

SPECIAL EVENT: The I F M

- As most sailors with any depth of experience in the IOM class can attest the true high point of every IOM WC comes with the day of the IFM. In fact, many participants in the IOM Worlds come more for the IFM than the World Championship itself. On this day Britain takes on the rest of the world (what else is new?).
- This year's match will take place close to the University of BC Hospital. The actual field of play will be at the University Hill Elementary School (very fitting). Once again, Team Captain Martin Roberts will lead the British horde. The rest of the World has been keeping very quiet about the identity of their team captain; and the make up of their entire team for that matter. Rumors regarding the players on the ROW team have been flying around like a number 3 rig on a calm day.
- In preparation for the big match the top game official has been exercising for many months; you may even have heard her preparations at a recent regatta. Yes, the cat is out of the bag: Mrs. Andrea Roberts has agreed (well sort of) to act as referee for the match. All players seem to agree on one thing: it would be impossible to say too much good about Andrea Roberts' abilities as an official.
- A huge crowd of spectators is expected to be on hand. These events are almost always sellouts so avoid disappointment by arriving early.
- When will this clash of the titans take place?
 - Thursday June 5th immediately after sailing (about 6:30 PM)
- Where?
 - Field is located at 5395 Chancellor Boulevard
 ----> about 75% of the way from RYYC to Gage Towers
- Immediately following the game, for those that don't wind up at the UBC Hospital, there will be an important debriefing session held to review the game's finer moments. This meeting will at the UBC Student Union Building (in the PUB!)
